PROJECTS

Bcare
A medical website
Bcare is a medical website utilizing HTML, CSS, JS, Python, Flask, and machine learning. Users upload ultrasound images for analysis to determine fetal health, providing insights on normal or abnormal conditions.

AI-Content-Generator
Built with Next.js, TypeScript, PostgreSQL, and Tailwind CSS, our AI content generator integrates the Gemini API. It offers secure authentication, customizable user settings, prompt duplication for refinement, and a text editor for effortless content creation. Additionally, it is fully mobile responsive.

House Price Detecter
This machine learning project uses regression models to predict home-related values based on numeric features. It follows a workflow from data collection and preprocessing to model training and deployment, providing a robust tool for real estate valuation, aiding homeowners, agents, and buyers in making informed decisions.
